

Digital Forensics & Investigations

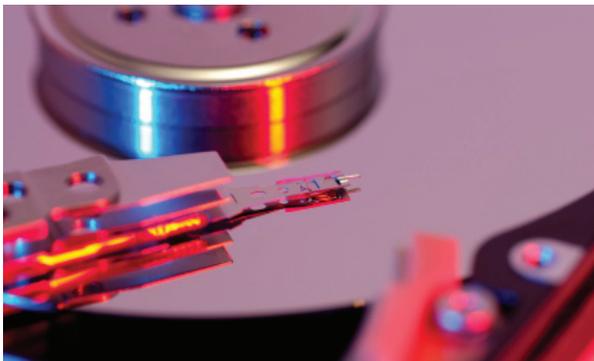

At Capsicum Group, LLC, we provide every aspect of computer evidence collection, preservation, analysis, hosting and testifying associated with digital forensics investigations. We are here to support you when the need for a digital forensics investigation arises within your organization.

Defensible Collection Strategies

The IT staff at your organization may have the technical skills required to collect data, but do they possess the resources, tools and procedures to manage evidence collection in a forensic manner that is defensible in court? Are they experienced in preparing affidavits and testifying in court?

Capsicum Group is comprised of attorneys, computer forensic experts and electronic discovery professionals. Our qualified team has provided expert testimony in State, Federal and International Courts and has also been approved by government agencies to handle the collection and investigation of digital data. Our experts come from government agencies such as the SEC, FBI, DHS as well as, military computer investigation units.

We utilize our specialized training to assist our clients with understanding what data to preserve prior to carrying out the physical collection while adhering to the strictest of security and chain of custody guidelines. As a result, your legal team can make informed decisions when preparing for litigation.

Why Choose Capsicum?

We have worked on some of the most complex and sensitive cases including the largest trade secret infringement litigation; global bankruptcies; crimes against children; hackings; white collar criminal defense matters and black box recoveries. With no less zeal and motivation we work on smaller recoveries and cases including employment matters, internal investigations and family law.

Capsicum draws upon these experiences when helping clients prepare and manage their projects. From project planning to execution, we provide clients with workflow recommendations, cost reduction strategies and risk mitigation solutions.

Capsicum's professionals have a wealth of experience and knowledge to help guide you through the forensic process.
